Our multi-agency training offers a valuable opportunity to work with others and consider the relevance of Restorative Practice for your role and workplace.

Over three days of interaction, participants will exchange learning as a group, gaining:

- ◆ Insight into Restorative Practice and creative conflict resolution
- ◆ Opportunities to develop & practice key skills to facilitate Restorative responses
- ◆ A way to respond constructively to environmental harm, identity-based harm & covid-19 legacy
- ◆ Potential for a culture of Restorative Practice in schools, workplaces & communities

Previous participants say:

"Detailed training with a good balance of content and practice to ensure the practice was not abstract but a working tool with real world applications"

"Informative, interesting and powerful"

"This course was life changing and I have learnt so much I want to take forward"

This course is delivered by two experienced trainers.

RJ Working has achieved the Trainer Provider Quality Mark and the Restorative Service Quality Mark of the UK Restorative Justice Council.

Every young person deserves to learn Restorative Principles as part of their education
